

'Green' Gadgets Help Foster Earth-friendly Home/Office

Green is everyone's favorite color these days. Even while you are gobbling up power with your computer and plethora of electronic devices for work and play, you can take some steps to be kind to the environment. How? Award-winning online retailer CableOrganizer.com has a couple of nifty products that can help.

Watts Up?

Want to save someone – or yourself – some real money amid rising energy costs? Handy devices such as the Watts Up? electricity meter will determine what each standard 120 Volt AC electric device will cost to operate. No more guesswork about how much it'll cost to power something over a short or long span of time. These types of electricity meters will quickly display the wattage and the electrical usage cost of the appliance. Now, that's a bright idea!

Available at <http://cableorganizer.com/electricity-power-meter/>. Prices range from $72.95 to $195.95.

Kill A Watt™: Electricity Power Meter

The Kill A Watt electricity power monitor is an economical and simple tool to assess the efficiency of your electric appliances. Just plug any 115 Volt AC (maximum 15 Amp) electric appliance into the Kill A Watt meter and the large LCD display shows the power consumption of the appliance by kilowatt-hours. The Kill A Watt power monitor can calculate the electricity cost of the appliance by the day, week, month or year. If your electric bills are high, the Kill A Watt power meter can discover which electric appliances are consuming too much power. The Kill A Watt electricity meter can also check the quality of your power by monitoring voltage, line frequency and power factor. ETL Listed. Available at <http://cableorganizer.com/kill-a-watt/>. Priced at $29.95.
